Games To-Day.

A very unhappy incident occurred in the last inning out at the ball park yesterday afternoon—Danville chased three runners across the plate, thereby winning the battle from our Lawmakers by the score of 5 to 3. This last round was replete with hits and errors, the locals going clean to the bows. LiPe's squad tried hard to come back at ten in their half, failing after almost doing what they wanted to do. Strader won the game for Danville with his mighty stick, which brought in the winning runs when hits were needed. He almost lost it again, but Loos proved to be the master of the situation, and although Richmond had a man on second and third in the last inning, they never came home. The Lawmakers seemed to have an off day with the willow, although they got as many hits as the Tobaccoists, the best batters failing to soak the ball when soaks would have taken the game. Titman acted like a fiend (he has got the habit), but his fielding was poor and costly.

Sandherr was the star of the day, making two spectacular one-hand catches of high liners that seemed good for two bases or more. He also showed that he has recovered his wing in the fourth round Cowan and Empire Maca had a little discussion regarding baseball. Revelle pitched something and Maca called it a ball. Cowan said it was not; Maca said it was. Cowan insinuated that the decision was rotten, and Maca let it be known that the assertion would cost him a five-dollar bill. George retorted with something-or-other, and his umps sent him to the bench.

The Bugs scored in the fourth and ninth, getting only one hit in the other innings. The Lawmakers checked up three in the fifth in a batting rally.

After being chopped down the first three frames, Doyle went to bat in the fourth and swatted a liner to centre. Fisher grounded to LiPe, who tried to catch Doyle at second, but both runners were safe. Then Henn sacrificed personal glory for the good of the whole, advancing the runners a peg. Following this, Strader, who was warmly applauded when he first went to bat, dragged a big stick to the plate and pressed his weight against the pellet for a clean single down the right foul line, scoring Doyle and Fisher. Stafford flew out to LiPe and Reinhart to Sandherr. Then Titman came to bat in the fifth with ambition written all over his mobile countenance, whacking a delightful single to the right plot. Still not satisfied, he stole second, the only theft of the game. Ison delivered a fly to Fisher, but Boyle smote the sphere to left garden, which landed Titman safe at third, while the catcher passed to second on the throw in. At this interesting moment smiling "Dutch" Revelle stepped to the rubber and swung on the round hide. When the noise ceased, both Titman and Boyle were walking toward the bench with tallies to their credit, while "Dutch" had catered to second on the throw in. Had it rained then the twirler would have won his own game. It did sprinkle a little, but not enough. When Heffron went out at first Revelle passed to third, coming home on LiPe's grounder through second. Kanzler fanned, which ended the run-getting for the Lawmakers.

The closing chapter, as previously stated, ended unhappily. Sandherr flagged Doyle at first with a speedy heave, but Fisher singled to left. Henn tapped the sphere to right for one bag. The rain had made the ball slippery and Titman's throw to second was wild. LiPe stopped it and threw to Sandherr on third, and he, too, threw wild. These two errors put Fisher and Henn safe at third and second. Then Strader whacked a fly to Titman, who let it go through him, while Fisher and Henn scored and Strader drew up at third.

The Danville fans, and there were several present, had a fit of joy, yelling themselves hoarse. Stafford's fly to Riggs scored Strader. Reinhart was thrown out at first by Ison. In the Lawmakers' half Titman plugged his third single to right, going to second on the throw in of Ison's caught fly. Boyle smote a fly to Strader, who muffed it after a long run, the batter drawing up at second and Titman at third. With this good chance to win Revelle flew out to Reinhart and Heffron to Doyle. That was all except the score:

READY FOR MOTOR RACES

With the fastest machines and the greatest number ever entered in a racing meet in this State ready to contend the Richmond Automobile Association will hold its auto races at the Fair Grounds to-morrow afternoon. All together there are to be seven races for motor cars, one for motor-cycles and a special exhibition event by a French machine to be driven by an expert foreign chauffeur.

The rain has added materially in settling the track, and some fast time is expected to be made on it. The speedy roadsters entered by Messrs. D. W. Vaughan, S. Stagg and Dr. F. W. Upshur promise to be great rivals in their class.

This afternoon at 5:30 o'clock the automobile parade will start from the City Hall and a large procession of horseless vehicles will parade the streets.

All vehicles and automobiles can enter the grounds only by the Hermitage Road gate, as the other gates will be closed.

Contesting cars will be run in the space in front of the grandstand, while visitors cars may line up against the inner fence alongside of the Judges' stand, or be left in the oval. Spectators will not be allowed on the track, which will at all times be kept clear for the racers.

In addition to the above entries the management expect to have a couple of surprises to spring on the crowd, the like of which has never been seen in this city before.

The track is in fine condition since the hard rains, and if old Jupiter Pluvius does not start another down-pour, some good racing may be looked for on a fast track.

Entries for the races are as follows, although others will in all probability be added:

Motor cycle race, five miles—1, motor cycle, 21-4-horsepower, S. G. Johnston; 2, motor cycle, 23-4-horsepower, James Patton; 3, motor cycle, 21-4-horsepower, G. B. Williams; 4, motor cycle, 21-4-horsepower, H. T. Taber.

Runabout race, twenty miles—4, four-cylinder, 15-horsepower, Motor Transfer Company; 11, runabout, Dr. Lomax Gwathmey (Norfolk, Va.); 1, Maxwell runabout, 14-horsepower, S. Stagg; 2, runabout, M. A. Batten; 3, runabout, M. A. Batten.

Doctors' race, five miles—5, Maxwell, Dr. M. D. Hoge, Jr.; 10, runabout, Dr. Stuart Michaux; 11, steamer runabout, Dr. Lomax Gwathmey (Norfolk, Va.); 12, touring car, Dr. W. Upshur; 21, 18, roadster, Dr. F. W. Upshur; 22, runabout, Dr. M. B. Coffman. The cars in this race are the ones used daily by the doctors.

Touring cars, owners' race, five miles—13, steamer, B. A. Blenner; 15, touring car, Lewis C. Williams.

For touring cars costing $2,000 or under, five miles—5, 12-horsepower car, Motor Transfer Company; 23, 12-horsepower car, Dr. H. S. McLean.

For touring cars costing over $2,000, five miles—3, touring car, W. B. Nelson; 18, touring car, Lewis C. Williams; 19, steamer, B. A. Blenner; 14, steamer, R. A. Blenner; 19, touring car, J. B. Swartwout.

Slow race—7, light touring car, Dr. R. A. Nichols; 17, touring car, Lewis A. Behle; 16, roadster, Dr. F. W. Upshur.

Free-for-all race, five miles—5, light touring car, Motor Transfer Company; 13, steamer touring car, B. A. Blenner; 11, steamer runabout, Dr. Lewis Gwathmey, Norfolk, Va.; 12, steamer touring car, Mr. Dobbins.

The judges will be Messrs. N. Ball, D. E. Dunlop and Cliff Well.

The timekeepers will be Dr. Charles H. Epps and Mr. E. J. Griffith.

Handsome prizes have been donated by Hancock Bros., Ryan & Smith, G. Kirkpatrick, B. A. Blenner, Motor Transfer Company, Simon Sycle, O. H. Berry & Company, Jacobs & Lewis, J. B. Morgan, D. W. Vaughn, B. A. Blenner, Childrey Drug Company, M. A. Batten, S. Stagg, Tarrant & Grant, and Harwood Bros.

NORFOLK SHUTS OUT LYNCHBURG

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

NORFOLK, VA., May 21.—Unable to solve "Long John" Fox's riddle, while West showed up ineffective in the opening innings, Norfolk defeated Lynchburg to-day in the opening game of the series by the score of 2 to 0. Despite the fact that the grounds were not in the best of condition, owing to the heavy rain in the morning, and a gale was blowing, chilling players and spectators, both teams played faultlessly in the field, although in the opening inning Lynchburg put up a dumb work. At no time did Lynchburg have a chance to score. Only three men reached first and two of these managed to make second. Davis and Bentley were the only men to find Fox for a safety. Umpire O'Neil announced that in yesterday's game a foul tip broke his collarbone and that he would be unable to officiate. Players were substituted. Pitcher Kid Jordan, of last year's Norfolk team, has been signed by Grinnell.

De Oro won out by the very small margin of three balls, thereby regaining the championship, which he has held for many years. In the play of the first two nights De Oro got a lead on Sherman which was almost impossible to overcome, but which Sherman came within an ace of climbing over, finally falling down on a difficult shot, was within three balls of the finish. In the next inning De Oro ran out, making the score 600 to 597. The excitement was intense during the last few innings, and when Sherman made a sensational run of 53 balls, the crowd became wildly enthusiastic.

The Richmond tournament will be played in the Jefferson Hotel auditorium, where arrangements have been made to seat a large audience. Accommodation has been made for ladies to see the match, and a large number will be present.

Sherman, who until Wednesday was champion of the world, won his title during the winter in an elimination tournament, in which De Oro played. He is a comparatively new man, but has won a large number of admirers by his brilliant play. The mettle shown against De Oro in Philadelphia was unusual, and he was enthusiastically applauded. If he succeeds in beating the Cuban in Richmond, the title will return to him to hold against all comers.

Colored Baseball Game.
The Reformer All-Stars of Richmond, will meet the Giants of Raleigh, N. C., at Broad Street Park in two baseball games next Tuesday and Wednesday. The colored players on each team are expecting a hot game.

A Challenge.
